Club Competition 18th September 2011

Man versus Man

The Clubs first Man v Man competition was held on the 18 September.

As it was the first ever the Club didn't have any targetry for it so the Competition Officer volunteered to make it.

Tim & Bryan try and make adjustments

As it was the first ever competition the design was also a first ever and that's where the problems started, compounded by not being able to test it prior to the competition.

The 6mm steel plates went down when hit, however they also bounced back up again. Or some did and some didn't and the right hand set were worse at bouncing back up than the left!

Because the design didn't allow the plates to fall right back there was also some doubts as to if a plate was down, up or bounced back up. We had observers behind each shooter and even they couldn't always see!

The competition was done on a straight forward knock out basis but with three shoots, best of three going forward to the next stage.

Jim S and Dave H were fancied as favourites for the final. They got knocked out in the first round. I hasten to add that this may have been due to targets bouncing back up but the rules were all five plates had to be down.

Jason & Richard prepare to go head to head

Dave M forgot about the comp and only brought his LBR to shoot on A Range. He took part at the last minute, borrowing the knocked out Dave H's rifle. We think everyone enjoyed it despite the bouncy targets even if it was a bit pot luck if you got all your targets to stay down.

By next time the design will have changed and the plates will go down and stay down and we'll have a stop plate set up so we know who got their plates down first.

The Winner: Dave M with a borrowed rifle!
