

2013

The Egg Shoot 31 March

Outdoors

This years Egg Shoot followed previous years format, with two Stages.

It was a busy morning with 20 competitors entering

Stage 1. Competitors had two sighters and then just one shot to hit a chicken egg suspended on string at 200 yards. If they hit the egg they went to the next Stage.

Stage 2. One shot only at a mini egg!

The weather was kind, dry and cold with a bit of wind. It was the first chance to try out the new 200 yard point in competition and the new gravel surface gave a good surface to shoot from without the bouncing floor we used to have when it was a wooden platform.

The new platform didn't help everyone though as there were a fair few dropping out after missing the first egg!

The tradition of those without a suitable rifle being lent one continued as did the tradition of the borrower beating the owner, in this case though Martin A borrowed the Comp Officers rifle. Martin took the Stage 1 egg out, the Comp Officer didn't! His Dad did though with the same rifle.

Dave M is to be congratulated on his confidence but not his visual recognition, he did his two sighters and then went straight onto the mini egg

Jim S wanted to disqualify Dave H as Dave had a back bag under his butt, (the rifle butt that is) but as Jim didn't actually see him use it Jim's request was denied. Didn't make any difference though, Dave didn't win!

Many hit the hen's egg and several had near misses on the mini egg, Mark G, and Jim were close

The winner was Paul H who scored a clean hit vaporising the mini egg and was rewarded with a nice chocolate Easter Egg for his skill. Then Dave H mockingly pointed out that with the cost of his new rifle and scope it was the most expensive chocolate egg he would ever buy.

LATE NEWS Even more remarkable was when Paul cleaned his rifle on Monday he realised the scope was loose, it had moved approx 10mm forward in the rings and 6 out of 8 screws in the rings were very loose.....

Indoors

The indoor Egg Shoot was at 25 yards on a paper target with various sized eggs on it. The smaller the egg the higher the score when hit with a maximum score of 100 to be had. All shots were taken standing unsupported. Joy was very excited at beating Glenn but more importantly this was her first competition win. Congratulations

Scores were as follows, as marked by the Comp Officer who was in a very generous mood or so his Dad says.

Name	Score
Joy	64
Keith M	62
Glenn	62
Sid	52
James P	49
Lynsey	38
Siobhan	23
Peter K	20

Sorry there were no photos taken indoors but a few from the outdoor event are below.

Gallery

Paul, in the buff cap, on his way to winning

Competition Officer Tim setting up

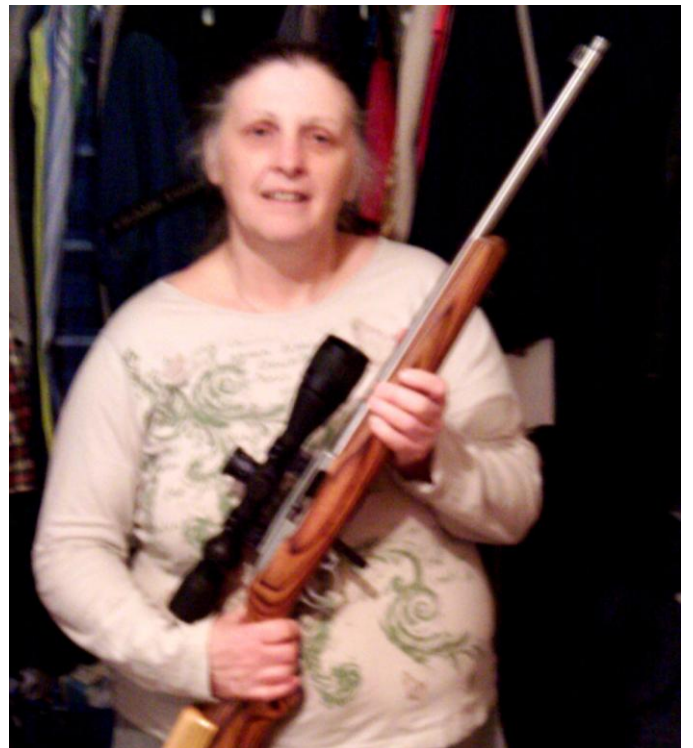

Paul receives his expensive chocolate egg

Plenty to talk about on the way back

Some of the competitors, others had sneaked off for an early lunch

Joy won the Indoor Competition