Mini McQueen

7 August

Fifteen people tried their hand and at this tricky competition.

The competition was five rounds for sighting and then ten round to count.

The targets were scaled down McQueen targets, shot at 50m.

Ten exposures, each of two seconds, firing one round at each of ten targets. German precision engineering ensured that there were exactly two second exposures but some disagreed!

Any rifle could be used with some using bolt actions, some with semi auto. Nobody opted to shoot prone, all shot off the bench so obviously the concrete was either too hard or too cold.

Those shooting bolt actions lost their sight picture when moving but in theory should have been more accurate. Theory wasn't working as the top place was using a semi-auto! Tied second place went to one with a semi and one (the DUUACO) with a single shot bench rest rifle. The bench rest rifle was a disadvantage though in getting back on target as the DUUACO missed a shot running out of time on one exposure.

Some competitors went into brain freeze – they looked at the target for two seconds but didn't pull the trigger, others pulled the trigger but missed anyway.

For some reason Gavin came in for a lot of mickey taking, must have been his stock or something.

Rob H couldn't make the Sunday so a very compassionate Comp Officer allowed him to shoot the following Wednesday. He turned up without a rifle so borrowed a semi which wasn't zeroed for 50m. He still managed a 36.

It was asked why only bipods and bags were permitted with fancy bench rest fronts and back bags barred. It's done to try to even up the competition as not everyone has a front bench rest/bag.
